Outside Sales (No Real Estate Experience Needed)

We need great Sales Professionals! Compensation: [$75,000+].

Location: [Tucson, AZ]

Do you love selling?

Are you looking for a new industry in which to sell?

Are you great at what you do but want to earn significantly more income doing it?

The best way to earn higher sales commissions is to sell higher-priced goods or services, and that's what this opportunity is about.

If you're an outstanding sales professional interested in leveraging your sales talents in a role that gives you greater freedom, flexibility, control and much greater earning potential, consider joining our top-performing sales team...in real estate sales.

Real Estate is one of the highest priced sales industries there is. The median home price sold in the US today is $292,000 USD. Our top-end single sales can reach as high as $2MM. How do these sales prices compare to what you are selling now?

And, high-priced sales equal high-end sales commissions. The annual take-home earnings of our sales agents range between $50,000-$150,000].

Last year alone our sales team sold $45MM. However, we have more qualified leads than our existing team can handle, and that's why we're interested in growing our team. We aren't worried about finding someone with any experience in real estate. That, we can teach. What we can't teach is a natural talent for selling. Everything else is just like learning the features, functions and benefits of what you're currently selling – just a lot more lucrative.

Most people don't think of real estate as a traditional sales role, but it absolutely is! The highest earning sales agents are full-time professionals who are – first and foremost – passionate sales experts. They excel in prospecting, networking, lead-generation, demonstrating, negotiating and closing. If this sounds like you, please consider our offer.

Our Real Estate Sales Agent Internship program is designed take that outstanding sales professional with no experience in real estate, train them on the specifics of the very expensive products they will be selling, orient them to the industry, mentor them and give them everything they need to put their sales talents to work.

Due to State Regulations, all Real Estate Sales Agents must pass a Real Estate License exam, but we'll help you with that as well. Once you're ready, we will provide you with lots of leads, and work together as a team to grab an even bigger share of the market here in Tucson, AZ

If you love the career of professional sales, and great at it, and are confident that you have what it takes to advance to the top end of the sales industry, please apply today! ONLY looking for fine folks who wake up and rock out!
